

UNISON

Job Brief – Policy Officer

Introduction

1. UNISON is the UK's leading public services trade union, with over 1.3 million members working in the public services, private, voluntary and community sectors and in the energy services. We employ 1200 staff, approximately 370 at our national centre in Euston, central London and the remainder in our twelve regions across the UK, including Northern Ireland.

The Policy Unit provides advice and assistance on policy development and campaigns across the full spectrum of political issues. Members of the team take responsibility for covering one or more of the essential areas identified by the union within public services and government policy. Team members are currently vital to the key defence of public services, austerity, pay, welfare reform and pensions campaigns.

The Unit services the National Executive Council - Policy Development and Campaigns Committee and provides support for the Service Group Liaison Committee.

The Role

2. The Policy Officer is part of a team with responsibility for providing policy advice and guidance to the union including the lay member structures; providing leadership support and guidance to bargaining units, regions and branches and representing the Union with outside organisations, including public speaking and the media. The Policy Officer is responsible, within assigned areas, for:
 - Providing policy advice and guidance, as appropriate, to the National Executive Council, other committees and service group meetings and conferences.
 - Initiating, organising and undertaking campaign activities at all levels and participating, as required, in UNISON-wide campaign activities.
 - Initiating, developing, co-ordinating and implementing recruitment and organising plans and activities as part of policy campaign development.
 - Responding to government consultation documents and legislation.
 - Undertaking research and providing support and assistance to bargaining units, regions and branches and advising regional and national staff, as appropriate, on matters of policy.
 - Initiating actions and contributing to the development of European and International activities, as required.

- Maintaining relations with other trade unions, campaign groups and appropriate government departments and agencies
 - Representing UNISON on government bodies and non-government agencies, as appropriate, at national levels.
3. UNISON structures its work programme to provide for the systematic implementation of policies adopted by its democratic lay member structures. Policy Officers are responsible for contributing to the prioritisation of work plans and programmes arising out of the four key objectives determined by the National Executive Council:
- Meet the recruitment and organising challenge posed by austerity measures, including public spending cuts and increased outsourcing
 - Protect and secure decent employment, pay and pensions for UNISON members, promoting equality and challenging discrimination
 - Campaign in support of public services, building our political influence and forging alliances with unions and community organisations
 - Ensure that the union's information and communications infrastructure and internal management systems are efficient and effective to meet the changing needs of our membership
4. The Policy Officer is a key deliverer of the operational plan for the PDCC, which ensures that the resources for their areas of responsibility are directed towards the achievement of the NEC's objectives and priorities. The plan identifies PDCC priorities and establishes progress or performance indicators to enable effective monitoring and evaluation of all work and achievements.
5. The key aims of the union as detailed in our Rule Book seek to:
- i) Extend and promote our influence in the workplace and in the Community.
 - ii) Promote, safeguard and facilitate participation by all members in the union's democracy, with special regard to women, members of all grades, black members, disabled members, lesbian, gay, bisexual and transgender members.
 - iii) Provide effective standards of service in the areas of representation and advice, information to members on the work of the union, the provision of financial benefits and the maintenance of educational facilities for members.
6. To further these aims, the Policy Officers role is, to provide policy advice and guidance to the union including the lay member structures; to provide leadership support and guidance to bargaining units, regions and branches; to represent the union with outside organisations, including public speaking and the media.

7. Policy Officers have/maintain considerable knowledge of key public policy areas and experience of lobbying/consultation with government.
8. While the Policy Officers post is a demanding position, requiring attendance at meetings outside of the conventional working day, UNISON is a strong supporter of the work/life balance ethos. Post holders will therefore prioritise their working arrangements in such a way as to demonstrate by example their personal commitment to these aims in partnership with senior lay officials.
9. The role of the Policy Officer is generic and the allocation of their areas of work is the responsibility of the Head of Policy. Areas of work are interchangeable and are regularly reviewed in discussion with policy officers to meet the needs of the organisation and service to national departments, regions, branches and members.
